WASHINGTON NOW WELL ORGANIZED

Change Has Come Over National Capital in Last Fortnight—Nation Awake

TO STERN WAR NECESSITY

Fault-Finding Overdone—Much Over Which Americans Can Be Enthusiastic.

(By David Lawrence.)
(Copyright, 1918, by New York Evening Post Company.)

Washington, April 12.—Something of a change has come over the national capital in the last fortnight that bears directly on the winning of the war, and to a certain extent that change reflects a similar metamorphosis of public opinion on the war throughout the country.

The fact is that Washington is better organized mentally for war than it has been in the months preceding.

Greater Efforts Needed. Instead of a half-hearted effort based on the theory that the war would soon be won by the allies, that peace was coming shortly and that much of our army and much of our material would never be used, the feeling is deeply rooted that not only are the preparations America now making going to be used but that even greater effort must still be exerted before the conflict can end.

In a nutshell, Washington believes the war is going to last at least a whole year more and the great majority of officials are becoming convinced that the struggle will have to go two years in order to make Germany comprehend the necessity for a complete reversal of her world policies.

Menace Realized. The change in atmosphere began before President Wilson's speech in Baltimore; in fact, Mr. Wilson's utterance in behalf of the unstinted use of force was an outgrowth of a new spirit of determination which came to the surface when the German offensive was started.

Never before did the war seem so close—the more thought of a defeat for the allied armies brought quick realization of the menace to America in the dominion of the Teuton. What had previously seemed academic, became a sudden immensely concrete and practical. On every side there was a noticeable speeding up.

President Wilson's offer to France that American troops be brigaded with the allied armies—an act of self-denial, the importance of which has not been generally appreciated for it means that the American army will not fight as a unit this year, as had been fondly hoped for by military men—was a manifestation of the willingness of the American government to make good its pledge of all resources for the common cause.

Sense Stimulated. Government departments and bureaus have sensed the same kind of stimulated interest in the war on the part of the people. Complaints about food and fuel orders have diminished considerably. The response to the "Liberty Loan" is beyond expectations. The organization for the loan campaign is better than on any previous occasion. There is growing evidence that people are going to buy more bonds this time than they have before. The draft machinery is working smoothly. Troops are moving with amazing rapidity to Europe. The country would be grateful to know how many transports have been loaded out of American ports for Europe in the last fortnight and how many more are going each month, but the figures are, of course, military information that cannot be published. Unquestionably the cantonments and camps will be emptied by summer and new troops substituted.

Everywhere the feeling is that America is at last on the move.

Even congress seems in the last few days to have awakened to the necessity of giving priority to war legislation, though many senators and representatives display in their speeches more or less distemper and irritation over inconsequential matters. Some of them insist on considering everything that is written about the United States government in this war as a defense or an attack on the democratic administration. Instead of giving credit for the good things that are being done they are constantly placing exaggerated emphasis on the blunders and failure, of which there are, of course, no small number.

Elihu Root's Speech. Elihu Root in his speech in Philadelphia described that phase of Washington very accurately in his warning against pessimism: "I am going back to Washington where so many tell me that this thing has been postponed and that thing wrongly done. It is doubtless true. That was inevitable. But there are many things which the government is now doing. Please God, the one thing necessary for the winning of the war for freedom will be done by this great people."

What Our Allies Think. Fault-finding is often productive of good results, but it can be overdone. In reviewing America's accomplishments during the first year of the war, so many of the critics adopted the theory that it was dangerous to say America had done a good piece of work lest complacency and self-satisfaction become widespread. But there is another way to look at what has been done in the last twelve months—to look at it as our allies see it, a marvelous beginning by a nation many thousands of miles away from the seat of war, handicapped by a lack of transportation and a submarine menace that is as yet not finally conquered.

There is much in the American war record over which the American people can grow enthusiastic. The present rise in American morale is due to the German offensive, but it is going to get even greater impetus as the American people grow gradually familiar with the onward progress of our army and navy abroad. Secretary Daniels has revealed that American battleships and cruisers are in European waters. This means that if there is a naval offensive our big dreadnoughts will be in the thick of the fighting.

Our army is already a part of the allied reserve, which is of such potential power as to worry the Germans just now. America has met with many disappointments, and has not met the expectations of all the critics, but every opinion that comes from the British and French indicates that they believe America came in the nick of time, and that with America's aid there can be absolutely no doubt of victory.

DEFINITE CRISIS AT HAND, SAYS MAURICE

Situation Undoubtedly Unpleasant—Huns Near Bailleul, Railway Center.

London, April 12.—A definite crisis has again been reached, Maj.-Gen. F. B. Maurice, chief director of military operations at the war office, declared yesterday. "The situation is undoubtedly unpleasant," he added. "The enemy is within a short distance of Bailleul, which is an important railway center for feeding our Messines-Wytschaete front. He is also advancing in the direction of Hazebrouck, which is a very important railway center."

Gen. Maurice said that on the other hand the Germans are advancing on a very flat and intricate country and have not yet gained any dominating position. Seventeen enemy divisions have been engaged up to the present and the enemy has lost very heavily.

CAMP WHEELER TROOPS COMPLETE MANEUVERS

Macon, Ga., April 12.—The Thirty-first division, made up largely of former national guardsmen from Alabama, Georgia and Florida, completed field maneuvers near here yesterday. The troops will return to Camp Wheeler today.

Theoretically the division met "the enemy" several days ago and defeated him in his attempt to march upon Macon.

EMPEROR'S LETTER SENT TO ALL ALLIES

Recall of Czernin From Bucharest Causing Consternation in Both Vienna and Berlin.

Paris, April 12.—The letter written by Emperor Charles to Prince Sixtus of Bourbon, outlining the means by which France might at last achieve peace, was, upon its receipt, immediately communicated to all of France's allies, says the Petit Parisien. It was unanimously decided, the Petit Parisien adds, at an inter-allied conference, which was held shortly afterward that there was no occasion to act on the emperor's suggestion.

Amsterdam, April 12.—A dispatch from Vienna to the Frankfurter Zeitung, referring to the disclosures made by Premier Clemenceau in respect to Austrian peace proposals, says, assuming the existence of the emperor's letter, it was written before the breakdown of Russia, at a time "when the war outlook was quite different from today and when a young, peace-loving monarch might take steps, which, today, under entirely altered conditions, must appear in another light."

Comment in Geneva.

Geneva, Friday, April 12.—The existence of the letter written by Emperor Charles to his brother-in-law, Prince Sixtus of Bourbon, which intimated that France might have peace, is not contested by the Vienna newspapers, which had been prohibited from publishing anything concerning it until today. At the same time, however, they declare that the letter as given out by the French government is a false version and that the real text never will be published.

The Neue Freie Presse states that the telegram sent to Emperor William by Emperor Charles has suppressed the most dangerous intrigue ever concocted.

Meanwhile, the peremptory recall of Count Czernin, the foreign minister from Bucharest by Emperor Charles is causing consternation in both Vienna and Berlin.

NEGRO SENTENCED TO DEATH FOR CRIME

Arthur Renfro to Be Executed in Nashville on May 4.

Athens, April 12.—A jury in the circuit court here yesterday found Arthur Renfro, colored, guilty of committing a criminal assault upon the 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle Franklin, of Nashville, and condemned him to be executed.

Judge Brown pronounced sentence, fixing the date of execution for May 2, in Nashville. The crime was committed several weeks ago and created much excitement and threats of lynching. The negro was fully identified by witnesses.

VICTORY TO SIDE WHICH HOLDS OUT LONGEST

Field Marshal Haig Appeals to All Ranks of Army for Determined Fight.

London, April 12.—Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, in a special order of the day, addressed to "all ranks of the British army in France and Flanders," says:

"Three weeks ago today, the enemy began his terrific attacks against us on a fifty-mile front. His objects are to separate us from the French, to cut the rail and canal ports and to destroy the British army."

"In spite of throwing, already, 108 divisions into the battle and enduring the most reckless sacrifice of human life, he has yet made little progress toward his goals."

"We owe this to the determined fighting and self-sacrifice of our troops. Words fail me to express the admiration which I feel for the splendid resistance offered by all ranks of our army under the most trying circumstances."

"Many amongst us now are tired. To those I would say that victory will belong to the side which holds out the longest. The French army is fighting rapidly and in great force to our support. There is no other course open to us but to fight it out. Every person must fight. There must be no retirement. With our backs to the wall and proving the justice of our cause, each one must fight to the end. The safety of our homes and the freedom of mankind depend upon the courage of each one of us at this critical moment."

CALL FOR MORE MEN UNDER DRAFT

List of Names of Class 1 Men From Three Boards Called for April 26.

DRAFT MEN TO RECEIVE ADVICE BEFORE LEAVING

Drafted men are to receive instructions of army life and advice previous to their being inducted into service.

A suggestion has reached local draft boards that all men subject to call into service should be assembled by their local boards and given such advice as will enable them to leave their business affairs in excellent shape. The suggestion was made by Provost Marshal General Crowder and accepted by Maj. Rutledge Smith and recommended to all draft boards.

The suggestion calls for all men of these draft boards to meet in an assembly, and the service of a lawyer, a military officer, a physician and others to speak upon the subject of making wills before departure; hygienics and army life, respectively. Gen. M. N. Whitaker and Foster V. Brown, chairman of the two city boards, in commenting upon the suggestion said it was a fine idea and should be carried out. Mr. Brown said he would confer with Mr. Whitaker and other draft board chairmen and call a meeting of all the men in the present draft and give them such instruction and advice as would be helpful to them. He was further declared by Mr. Brown that all men who were expecting to be called soon would profit by attending these meetings.

The list of men called under the second draft by city board No. 1 and the two county boards, to be sent to mobilization camps on April 26, are as follows:

MORE DEFECTIONS IN REICHSTAG REPORTED

Erstwhile Supporters of Resolution of July 19 Lament Altered State of Affairs.

Stockholm, April 12.—Further defections among erstwhile supporters of the German reichstag resolution of July 19 continue to be reported. The latest is that of a clerical member, Herr Emminger, who, addressing a meeting, said:

"An incrimination of a hundred billion marks or more must be exacted, of which France would be permitted to pay a part in colonies and England a part in raw materials."

The minister of finance of Saxony, addressing a meeting of an association of Saxon industrialists, declared that the war must not end with any sort of a friendly understanding, but must be fought to a victorious end. Continuing, the speaker declared: "Germany's enemies, who are responsible for lengthening the war, must be compelled to pay cash for it. We have no occasion to worry our heads about how they will raise the money to pay an indemnity."

Even Vorwarts appears to have surrendered hope that the government can be brought back to its former position. In a succession of editorials recently it has been lamenting the altered state of affairs. It declares, however, that after having done all in their power to prevent the empire from taking what they consider a false course, they must accept the consequences of this new course and "where might stands against might, the socialists must stand on the side of their own people."
